

Please Join Concerned Edmonds' Neighbors at the Mayor's Town Hall This Week!

Wednesday, September 19th, 6:30-8:30 p.m., at the Old Conference Center at 201 4th Ave N. – now the “North Sound Center”

If you have concerns or questions about the Mayor's plan to increase housing in Edmonds which follow some Seattle-style initiatives, please come to his Town Hall, ask questions and express concerns. It is possible we could see increases in our property taxes to subsidize these projects.

Edmonds is a compassionate community but some of us could be taxed out of our own homes to further this agenda.

Proposed plans include:

Low Barrier housing in one or more neighborhoods (low barrier means alcohol and drug use is allowed and prior felony convictions are not a barrier to getting a unit)

Increased density in height, minimal set-backs with a corresponding drop in parking requirements and unit size in currently stable residential areas without any input from neighbors.. Their focus - to maximize the number of people in any given space.

No clear plan on how to cover increased costs of infrastructure demands such as fire, police, schools, roads, and utilities as a result of significant increase in population.

Get informed NOW and work to save our community of Edmonds from the same FAILED ideas of the Seattle City Council.

If you are not able to attend, please consider joining an email list where you can get the latest information about these plans. Email:

Who we are: A diverse and compassionate group of Edmonds citizens uniting to stop the Edmonds Housing Strategy which is written to redevelop Edmonds in the image of Seattle, a strategy that is out of scale to what our small town can support and which is being pushed through in a manner that is evasive and has given the citizens of Edmonds little to no input in the process.
